Preface

Preface to the first edition

This book has been designed to meet the requirements of students whose mother tongue is not English. Its main purpose is to help to correct the common mistakes to which foreign learners of English are liable.

The method adopted throughout this work is uniform. All the errors dealt with are singled out, for they have to be recognised before they can be corrected; then correct forms are substituted for incorrect ones; finally, simple explanations are given wherever necessary to justify particular usages. Exercises are set at the end to ensure that the principles may become firmly fixed in the students' minds.

It is not claimed that this manual is exhaustive. Nevertheless, the difficulties tackled are real, and the examples are representative of the mistakes commonly made by foreign students of English, being the result of observations made over a long period of time.

Much care has been given to the preparation of the Index, which it is hoped will make the book a useful work of reference.

My acknowledgements are due to Mr W. H. G. Popplestone, who has read my manuscript and made many valuable suggestions.

Preface to the Sixth Edition

It is now more than 60 years since this book was first published. It has gone through many revisions, and additions have been made at different times in its history. With the millennium approaching it was decided that there were some points of usage which are no longer relevant and so this new edition has been prepared. The content has been completely reviewed in the light of modern English usage, and the typefaces and design up-dated for clarity.

And yet the original concept and, indeed, most of the original mistakes listed, are still pertinent to students of English even in the year 2000. This little book has sold several hundred thousand copies all over the world and seems likely to go on doing so.

The author's note on how the book should be used is on page vii, with an addition for this edition.

How this book should be used

This book is intended for two uses. It may be used as a reference book and as an ordinary text book.

As a book of reference it should be consulted with every composition. The teacher may refer the student to the appropriate section dealing with his mistake by a number in the margin of his exercise book. For example, a misuse of a preposition of time (at, on or in) is indicated by 383 in the margin to enable the student to look up his mistake and correct it. This method has been tested and found more effective than the common practice of writing the correct form for the student. It is axiomatic that the greater the student's individual effort, the more thorough will be his learning.

With regard to its second use, as an actual text book, we strongly recommend that the teacher should start off with the exercises on pages 137 to 181. These are arranged under the headings of the various parts of speech: nouns, adjectives, pronouns, etc. However, before an exercise is attempted, the teacher should make certain that the students have comprehended the particular usage involved. An occasional reference to some specific section may be made whenever this is deemed necessary, but under no circumstances is it advisable to go through the various sections of the book consecutively, or to commit to memory rules concerning usage.

Despite the fact that this book has been designed for two separate uses, the writer is of the opinion that the best results will be achieved if it is used by the student both as a text book and as a book of reference.

How this book should be used

students of English as a foreign language who are preparing work either as part of their studies or for their occupations. With a view to this, it is suggested that, when a question of correct usage arises, the student should look first for the core word in the index and so find the section detailing the usage. For example, is it by foot or on foot? Look up foot in the index and you will be directed to Section 13 which will explain that on foot is correct.

Students and teachers will decide for themselves what is the best way to use this book. What is constant is the quality of content and how helpful it is to all those who use English as a foreign language.

96 Busy + -ing.
   Don't say: He was busy to revise the exams.
   ✔ Say: He was busy revising for the exams.

97 Worth + -ing.
   Don't say: Is today's film worth to see?
   ✔ Say: Is today's film worth seeing?

   (e) After certain phrases:

98 Have difficulty in + -ing.
   Don't say: She has no difficulty to do it.
   ✔ Say: She has no difficulty in doing it.
Misused forms

99 Have the pleasure of + -ing.

Don’t say: I had the pleasure to meet him.
✓ Say: I had the pleasure of meeting him.

Note: Also take pleasure in. He takes great pleasure in helping others.

100 It’s no use + -ing.

Don’t say: It’s no use to cry like a baby.
✓ Say: It’s no use crying like a baby.

101 It’s no good + -ing.

Don’t say: It’s no good to get angry.
✓ Say: It’s no good getting angry.

102 Look forward to + -ing.

Don’t say: I look forward to see him soon.
✓ Say: I look forward to seeing him soon.

103 There is no harm in + -ing.

Don’t say: There’s no harm to visit her now.
✓ Say: There’s no harm in visiting her now.

(See Exercises 63 and 64 on page 164.)

Use of the wrong tense

104 Using the past tense after did instead of the infinitive without to.

(a) To ask questions:

Don’t say: Did you went to school yesterday?
✓ Say: Did you go to school yesterday?

(b) To make negatives:

Don’t say: I did not went to school yesterday.
✓ Say: I did not go to school yesterday.

Use the present infinitive without to, not the past tense after the auxiliary did.

Note: the answer to a question beginning with did is always in the past tense. Did you see the picture? – Yes, I saw the picture; or Yes, I did.

105 Using the third person singular after does instead of the infinitive without to.

(a) To ask questions:
Don't say: Does the gardener waters the flowers?
✓ Say: Does the gardener water the flowers?

(b) To make negatives:
Don't say: The man doesn’t waters the flowers.
✓ Say: The man doesn’t water the flowers.

After the auxiliary does use the infinitive without to, and not the third person of the present.

Note. The answer to a question beginning with Does is always in the present tense, third person: Does he like the cinema? – Yes, he likes the cinema; or Yes, he does.

(For Sections 104–105 see Exercises 33 and 34 on pages 152–153.)

106 Using the third person singular after can, must, etc., instead of the infinitive without to.

Don't say: Ian can speaks English very well.
✓ Say: Ian can speak English very well.

After the verbs can, must, may, shall, and will, use the infinitive without to, and not the third person of the present.

107 Wrong sequence of tenses.

Don't say: Rachel asked me what I am doing.
✓ Say: Rachel asked me what I was doing.

When the verb in the main clause is in the past tense, use a past tense in subordinate clauses.
Misused forms

Note: This rule doesn’t apply (1) to verbs within quotations, (2) to facts that are true at all times. We say:

1. She said, ‘I am waiting for your answer’
2. He said that London is a great city

108 Using will/ll instead of would/’d in a subordinate clause.

Don’t say: He said (that) he will/ll come tomorrow.
✓ Say: He said (that) he would/’d come tomorrow.

Will/ll changes to would/’d in subordinate clauses, when the verb in the main clause is in a past tense.

109 Using may instead of might in a subordinate clause.

Don’t say: Last Sunday Ailsa told me that she may come.
✓ Say: Last Sunday Ailsa told me that she might come.

May changes to might in subordinate clauses, when the verb in the main clause is in the past simple tense.

Note: The conjunction that is never preceded by a comma.

110 Using can instead of could in a subordinate clause.

Don’t say: Ben thought he can win the prize.
✓ Say: Ben thought he could win the prize.

Can changes to could in subordinate clauses, when the verb in the main clause is in the past simple tense.

(For Sections 107–110 see Exercises 22 and 23 on pages 147–148.)

111 Using the past simple tense after to + the infinitive.

Don’t say: He tried to kicked the ball away.
✓ Say: He tried to kick the ball away.

Don’t use the simple past tense after to.
Part 1

112 Using the past simple tense after an auxiliary verb, instead of the past participle.

Don't say: I've forgot to bring my book.

✓ Say: I've forgotten to bring my book.

Use the past participle (and not the past tense) with the auxiliary verb have or its parts.

113 Using must or ought to to express a past obligation.

Don't say: You ought to come yesterday.

✓ Say: You ought to have come yesterday.

Or: You should have come yesterday.

Don't use must and ought to as past tenses. To express a past duty (which wasn't done) use the perfect infinitive without to after ought to or should, or expressions such as had to, was obliged to.

Note: In indirect speech use must and ought to as past tenses: He said he must do it.

114 Using the present perfect instead of the simple past tense.

Don't say: I have seen a good film yesterday.

✓ Say: I saw a good film yesterday.

Use the simple past tense (and not the present perfect) for an action completed in the past at a stated time.

Note: When a sentence has a word or a phrase denoting past time, like yesterday, last night, last week, last year, then, ago, etc., always use a simple past tense.

115 Using the simple past tense instead of the present perfect.

Don't say: I saw the Parthenon of Athens.

✓ Say: I have seen the Parthenon of Athens.

If we are speaking of the result of a past action rather than of the action itself, we must use the present perfect tense. When somebody says, I have seen Parthenon, he or she is not thinking so much of the past act of seeing it, as the present result of that past action.
Misused forms

116 Using the simple past tense with a recent action, instead of the present perfect.

Don’t say: The clock struck.

✓ Say: The clock has struck.

If we are speaking of an action just finished, we must use the present perfect instead of the simple past tense. For example, immediately after the clock strikes, we shouldn’t say The clock struck, but The clock has struck.

117 Using the simple present instead of the present perfect.

Don’t say: I’m at this school two years.

✓ Say: I’ve been at this school two years.

Use the present perfect (and not the simple present) for an action begun in the past and continuing into the present. I’ve been at this school two years means I’m still here.

118 Using the simple present instead of the present perfect after a since clause of time.

Don’t say: Since he came, we’re happy.

✓ Say: Since he came, we’ve been happy.

The verb after a since clause of time is generally in the present perfect tense.

19 Using the simple present instead of the present continuous.

Don’t say: Look! Two boys fight.

✓ Say: Look! Two boys are fighting.

Note. We also use the present continuous for the future when something is pre-arranged or expected with some certainty: Lorna is arriving tomorrow at six. Tom and I are eating out tonight.

20 The continuous form of the tense misused.

Don’t say: I’m understanding the lesson now.

✓ Say: I understand the lesson now.

As a rule, verbs denoting a state rather than an act have no continuous forms, like understand, know, believe, like, love, belong, prefer, consist, mean, hear, see, etc.
121 Using the present continuous for a habitual action, instead of the simple present.

Don't say: Every morning I’m going for a walk.

✓ Say: Every morning I go for a walk.

Use the simple present (and not the present continuous) to express a present habitual action.

Note: Use the present continuous to express a habitual action with the word always or with a verb denoting a continuous state: He is always talking in class; He is living in London.

122 Using the verb to use for the present habitual action.

Don’t say: I use to get up at six every morning.

✓ Say: I get up at six every morning.

Or: I’m accustomed to getting up at six, etc.

The verb to use doesn’t express a habit in the present. I use means I employ: I use a pen to write with.

Note: Used to expresses a past state or habit and it usually refers to some old situation which no longer exists: I used to see him every day; My father used to play football very well.

123 Using the past continuous for a habitual action, instead of the simple past tense.

Don’t say: Last year I was walking to school every day.

✓ Say: Last year I walked to school every day.

Use the simple past tense to express a habit in the past, and not the past continuous.

Note: Use the past continuous tense to describe events in the past happening at the time another action took place: I was walking to school when I met him.

124 Using the past tense instead of the past perfect.

Don’t say: The train already left before I arrived.

✓ Say: The train had already left before I arrived.

Use the past perfect when the time of one past action is more past than that of another. Put the action which was completed first in the past perfect and the second action in the past tense.
Note: Don’t use the present tense and the past perfect in the same sentence. It would be incorrect to say: My brother says that he had not gone to the cinema last night.

125 Using the past perfect instead of the simple past tense.

Don’t say: I’d finished the book yesterday
 ✓ Say: I finished the book yesterday.

Don’t use the past perfect unless there is another verb in the past tense in the same sentence.

(See Section 124.)

126 Using the future in a clause of time, instead of the present tense.

Don’t say: I’ll see you when I shall come back.
 ✓ Say: I’ll see you when I come back.

If the verb in the main clause is in the future, the verb in the time clause must be in the present tense.

127 Using the future in the if clause instead of the present tense.

Don’t say: If he’ll ask me, I will/’ll stay.
 ✓ Say: If he asks me, I will/’ll stay.

Use the present tense in a future conditional in the if clause and the future tense in the main clause.

Note: But the future tense may be used in an if clause expressing a request: If you will/’ll give me some money I will/’ll buy you a drink.

128 Using the present tense after as if or as though instead of the past.

Don’t say: Janine talks as if she knows everything.
 ✓ Say: Janine talks as if she knew everything.

Use the past tense after the phrase as if or as though. He talks as if he knew everything, means He talks as he would talk if he knew everything.

Note: Use the subjective were with the verb to be after as if: He acts as if he were a rich man.
129 Using the past conditional of wish instead of the present indicative.

Don’t say: I would wish to know more English.

Say: I wish (that) I knew more English.

Use the present tense of wish to express a present meaning, followed by a that clause containing a past tense.

130 Using a wrong tense with an improbable condition.

Don’t say: If he would/’d ask me, I would/’d stay.

Say: If he asked me, I would/’d stay.

Express an improbable condition by the past tense and use the conditional in the main clause. This use of the past tense doesn’t indicate a time but a degree of probability.

131 Using a wrong tense with a counterfactual condition.

Don’t say: If he would/’d have asked me, I would/’d stay.

Say: If he had/’d asked me, I would/’d have stayed.

Express a counterfactual (that didn’t happen) condition by the past perfect and use the past conditional in the main clause. This use of the past perfect doesn’t indicate a time but an impossible happening.

132 Using the infinitive instead of a finite verb.

Don’t say: Sir, to go home to get my book?

Say: Sir, may I go home to get my book?

The infinitive simply names an action without reference to person, number or time. Therefore, it can’t make sense without the help of a finite verb.

133 Mixing up the tenses.

Don’t say: They asked him to be captain, but he refuses.

Say: They asked him to be captain, but he refused.

If you begin with a verb referring to past time, keep the verb forms in the past. The same rule applies to tenses throughout a composition.

(See Exercises 24–30 on pages 148–151.)
Have another look at ...

Use of certain tenses

1. Use the Simple Present for habitual or frequent actions, and use the Present Continuous for actions taking place at the present moment.
   Examples: I read the newspaper every day. I'm reading an English book (now).

2. Use the Simple Past when a definite time or date is mentioned, and use the Present Perfect when no time is mentioned.
   Examples: I did my homework last night. I've done my homework (so I can watch TV – or whatever – now).

3. Express habitual or repeated actions in the past either by the Simple Past or by the phrase used to.
   Example: I went (or I used to go) to the cinema every week last year.
   Note: Don't use the Past Continuous (I was going) for a past habitual action, but for an action in the past continuing at the time another action took place: I was going to the cinema when I met him.

4. The only correct tense to use is the Present Perfect if the action began in the past and is still continuing in the present.
   Example: I've been in this class for two months.

5. Be very careful NOT to use the future but the Present tense in a clause of time or condition, if the verb in the main clause is in the future.
   Example: I will/’ll visit the Parthenon when I go (or if I go) to Athens.
Part 1

Miscellaneous examples

134 Confusion of gender.

Don't say: The door is open, please shut her.

✓ Say: The door is open, please shut it.

In English only names of people and animals have gender (masculine or feminine). Inanimate things are neuter, and take the pronoun it in the singular.

Note: It's possible to use masculine or feminine pronouns when inanimate things are personified: England is proud of her navy.

135 Using the possessive 's with inanimate objects.

Don't say: Her room's window is open.

✓ Say: The window of her room is open.

With inanimate objects we usually use the of structure. The door of the car. The leg of the table. The surface of the water. With the names of places and organisations we can use either: London's streets = The streets of London. Italy's climate. = The climate of Italy. The school's main office = The main office of the school.

Note: However, we do say: a day's work, a night's rest, a week's holiday, a pound's worth, etc., especially with similar measures of time.

136 Using the objective case after the verb to be.

Don't say: It was him.

✓ Say: It was he.

The pronoun coming after the verb to be must be in the nominative case, and not in the objective in written composition. However, the objective case is now usually used in conversation: It's me, It was him/her/them, etc.

137 Using the objective case after the conjunction than.

Don't say: My sister is taller than me.

✓ Say: My sister is taller than I (am).

The word than is a conjunction, and can only be followed by a pronoun in the nominative case. The verb coming after the pronoun is generally omitted.

Note: Use the objective case in spoken English: You're much taller than me.
138 Using the subject pronoun after between.
Don't say: It's a secret between you and I.
✓ Say: It's a secret between you and me.

Between is a preposition, and all prepositions take the objective case after them.

139 Using an object pronoun before a gerund.
Don't say: Him laughing at her was what made her angry.
✓ Say: His laughing at her was what made her angry.

When we use a -ing verb as a noun, the preceding noun or pronoun must be possessive.

140 Using an object pronoun in a double genitive.
Don't say: A friend of him told us the news.
✓ Say: A friend of his told us the news.

We use the double genitive (of + name + 's, his, mine etc.) when we want to emphasise the person who possesses rather than the thing which he possesses.
A friend of his is simply another way of saying one of his friends.

141 Misuse of -self forms.
Don't say: Michael and myself are here.
✓ Say: Michael and I are here.

Use the simple personal pronouns I, you, he, etc., if no emphasis is necessary.

Note: Use the -self pronouns in two ways: (1) for emphasis. She herself was hurt, (2) reflexively. She hurt herself.

142 Using hisself or theirselves instead of himself or themselves.
Don't say: They fell down and hurt theirselves.
✓ Say: They fell down and hurt themselves.

The reflexive pronouns, third person, are himself and themselves, and not hisself and theirselves.
3 Misuse of noun/verb homonyms.

Don’t say: Becky played a good play of chess.

Say: Becky played a good game of chess.

Some verbs and nouns do have the same form and analogous meaning in English: The police fight a hard fight. Heather dreams long vivid dreams. If you lie the lie will catch you out! The company danced an African dance. However, we seldom use the same word like this. Usually we try to avoid it in some way: She fought a long battle with them. If you lie you will be caught out. The company did an African dance.

4 Using the relative pronoun which for persons.

Don’t say: I’ve a brother which is at school.

Say: I’ve a brother who is at school.

Only use which as a relative pronoun for animals or things. The right pronoun to use for people is who (whose, whom).

45 Using what or which after everything, etc.

Don’t say: I heard everything which (or what) he said.

Say: I heard everything (that) he said.

Don’t use the relative pronouns which and what after everything, all, something, anything, a lot, (not much), little, or nothing. We can use that after these words, or it can be omitted.

46 Who and whom.

Don’t say: I saw the woman whom you said lived next door.

Say: I saw the woman (who) you said lived next door.

We rarely use whom in modern English. We still use it after prepositions to, by, with, after, on etc. For example, The girl to whom you were speaking is Nigerian. We prefer to avoid this nowadays by changing the order of the sentence: The girl you were speaking to is Nigerian. You can also use that in place of who: The girl that you were speaking to is Nigerian.

(For Sections 144–146 see Exercise 18 on page 145.)
Misused forms

147 Using who, whom, or which after the superlative, instead of that.

Don’t say: It’s the best which I’ve seen.

✓ Say: It’s the best (that) I’ve seen.

Use the relative that (not who, whom, or which) after a superlative. It can, however, be omitted.

148 The same as/same that.

Don’t say: Amelia bought the same bag that me.

✓ Say: Amelia bought the same bag as me.

After the same we use as unless it’s followed by a subordinate clause, in which case we use that, or omit it. Mr. Smith ordered the same meal (that) he ordered before.

Note: Sometimes we use that instead of who or which after same: He wore the same clothes that he wore on Sunday.

149 Using who? or what? instead of which?

Don’t say: Who of the two boys is the taller?

✓ Say: Which of the two boys is the taller?

Use the interrogative pronoun which? for both people and things, asks for one out of a definite number.

Note. The interrogative pronoun what? doesn’t imply choice: What’s your telephone number? It’s also used to ask for a person’s profession. What’s your father? – He’s a lawyer.

(Compare Section 144.)

150 Who? and Whom?

(a) Who?

Don’t say: Whom do you think will be chosen?

✓ Say: Who do you think will be chosen?

(b) Whom?

Don’t say: Who do you think I saw yesterday?

✓ Say: Whom do you think I saw yesterday?

In sentence (a) who is the subject of will be chosen, do you think is a parenthesis. In sentence (b) whom is the object of I saw, do you think is a parenthesis.
Part 1

(For Sections 149 and 150 see Exercise 19 on page 145.)

51 Using one other instead of another.
Don’t say: Please give me one other book.
/ Say: Please give me another book.

Another is formed from an and other, but instead of being written an other it’s written as one word another.

52 Using the superlative instead of the comparative.
Don’t say: John is the tallest of the two boys.
/ Say: John is the taller of the two boys.

Use the comparative when two people or things are compared. See 154

53 Using from after the comparative instead of than.
Don’t say: Amy is taller from her brother.
/ Say: Amy is taller than her brother.

Adjectives (or adverbs) in the comparative are followed by than and not by from.

54 Using the comparative instead of the superlative.
Don’t say: Cairo is the larger city in Africa.
/ Say: Cairo is the largest city in Africa.

Use the superlative when more than two persons or things are compared.

55 Using the more instead of most.
Don’t say: The more people will agree with me.
/ Say: Most people will agree with me.

Use most (not the more) when you mean the majority of.

Note Use the more in sentences like: The more I complain, the more laugh. The more we write, the happier our tutor becomes.
156 Using more good or more bad instead of better or worse.

Don’t say: This one looks more good than that.

Say: This one looks better than that.

The adjectives good and bad have irregular forms of comparison: good, better, best and bad, worse, worst.

(For Sections 151–156 see Exercises 7 and 8 on page 140.)

157 Using home instead of at home.

Don’t say: In the afternoon I stay home.

Say: In the afternoon I stay at home.

Use the phrase at home to mean in the house. With such verbs as come or go no preposition is necessary: He wants to go home.

158 Using from instead of one of or among.

Don’t say: She is from the nicest girls I know.

Say: She is one of the nicest girls I know.

Avoid using from in the sense of one of or among.

159 Using the passive infinitive (to be + past participle) instead of the active (to + infinitive).

Don’t say: English isn’t easy to be learned.

Say: English isn’t easy to learn.

The adjectives easy, difficult, hard, heavy, good, etc., are generally followed by the active infinitive.

160 Using an intransitive verb in the passive form.

Don’t say: She was disappeared from the house.

Say: She disappeared from the house.

As a rule, don’t use intransitive verbs, like appear, seem, become, consist, in the passive form. Intransitive verbs don’t have an object.
161 Mixing up one form of the verb with another.

Don’t say: It’s better to enjoy yourself when you’re young rather than wasting time worrying about the future.

✓ Say: It’s better to enjoy yourself when you’re young than to waste time worrying about the future.

Don’t mix one form of the verb with another. If the first verb in a comparison is in the infinitive, the second must also be in the infinitive.

162 Wrong sequence of moods.

Don’t say: If you would’d do me this favour, I will’/l be very grateful to you.

✓ Say: If you would’d do me this favour, I would’d be very grateful to you.
Or: If you will’d do me this favour, I will’d be very grateful to you.

163 The unrelated participle.

Don’t say: Being in a hurry, the door was left open.

✓ Say: Being in a hurry, he left the door open.

Take care to provide the logical subject relating to the participle phrase. In the sentence given, the logical subject to being in haste is he and not the door.

164 The question phrase isn’t it? misused.

Don’t say: He played well yesterday, isn’t it?

✓ Say: He played well yesterday, didn’t he?

Use the question phrase isn’t it only when the preceding statement contains the word is: It is a hot day, isn’t it?

Note: In this form of question, use the same tense and person as in the preceding statement and use the correct auxiliary. If, however, the preceding statement is in the negative form, the question phrase omits not. We say:
1 They are on holiday, aren’t they?
2 They aren’t on holiday, are they?
2 You speak English, don’t you?
2 You don’t speak French, do you?

(See Exercise 36 on page 154.)
Misused forms

165 Misuse of the gerund to express purpose.

Don't say: I come here for learning English.

✔ Say: I come here to learn English.

Express purpose by using the infinitive, not the gerund.

166 Yes or No in answer to negative questions.

Question: Didn’t you see the game?

Answer: Yes, – that is, I saw it.

No, – that is, I didn’t see it.

In answering negative questions, say Yes if the answer is an affirmation, and No if it’s a negative. That is, answer without any regard to the negative form of the question.

16 Using a double negative.

Don’t say: She says she’s not afraid of nobody.

✔ Say: She says she’s not afraid of anybody.

Or: She says she’s afraid of nobody.

In English, two negatives are equal to an affirmative statement. You should avoid using two negative words in the same clause: when not is used, none changes to any, nothing to anything, nobody to anybody, no one to anyone, nowhere to anywhere, neither ... nor to either ... or.

(See Exercise 38 on page 155.)

168 Using one time or two times instead of once or twice.

Don’t say: I was absent one time or two times.

✔ Say: I was absent once or twice.

Use once and twice instead of one time and two times.

169 Using a day, etc., instead of one day, etc.

Don’t say: A day they went sight-seeing in Florence.

✔ Say: One day they went sight-seeing in Florence.

Use one (not a or an) with day, night, morning, afternoon and evening, when the one means on a certain ....
Part 1

170 Using the other day instead of the next day, etc.

Don't say: David slept well and was better the other day.

✓ Say: David slept well and was better the next day (or on the following day).

Note: The other day is an idiom meaning a few days ago. I met an old friend the other day.

171 Using one and a half, instead of half past one, etc.

Don't say: Lessons begin at eight and a half.

✓ Say: Lessons begin at half past eight.

In telling time, say half past one, half past two, half past three, etc.

172 Using as usually instead of as usual.

Don't say: As usually, he left his pen at home.

✓ Say: As usual, he left his pen at home.

173 Using according to my opinion instead of in my opinion.

Don't say: According to my opinion, she’s right.

✓ Say: In my opinion, she’s right.

Note: Avoid using the phrase as I think instead of I think. Say: He’s lazy and I think he’ll fail, not as I think.

174 Using at the end instead of in the end.

Don’t say: At the end they reached the city.

✓ Say: In the end they reached the city.

In the end means finally or at last. at the end means at the farthest point or part. There’s an index at the end of this book. There’s a holiday at the end of this month.

175 Using under the rain instead of in the rain.

Don’t say: They played football under the rain.

✓ Say: They played football in the rain.

Note: Also in the sun and in the shade. He was sitting in the sun (or in the shade).

Negatives

Express the negative in the present + past simple in one of two ways:

1 By putting not (n't) after the verb. Use this method with the following twenty-one verbs.

- am, is, are, was, were; have, has, had; shall, should;
- will, would; can, could; may, might; must; need; dare;
- ought ... to; used ... to.

Examples: I'm not ready. You mustn't do that. He can't write well. He oughtn't to go.

In conversation, not is often shortened to n't. We say don't for do not, doesn't for does not, didn't for did not, hadn't for had not, wouldn't for would not, etc. (But we say shan't for shall not, won't for will not, can't for cannot.)

2 Use do, does, did, with not and the present infinitive (without to). Use this method with all verbs except those twenty-one given above.

The word order is:

SUBJECT + do (does, did) + not + INFINITIVE

Examples: I don't go there very often. He doesn't teach English. They didn't see the game.

3 Use other words of negative meaning to express negatives: no, nobody, no one, nothing, nowhere.

Example: They know nothing

or They do not (don’t) know anything.
176 Using the reason is because instead of the reason is that.

Don’t say: The reason is because I believe it.

Say: The reason is that I believe it.

The word reason denotes cause, therefore the reason is because is repetition. The correct idiom is the reason is that ...

177 Using a country instead of the country.

Don’t say: I spend my holidays in a country.

Say: I spend my holidays in the country.

A country is a place like France, India, or Egypt. The country is a rural area where there are no towns or cities.

178 Using if instead of whether.

Don’t say: I asked Paul if he was going.

Say: I asked Paul whether he was going.

Where or not is implied, use whether, not if. Unlike whether, if does not expect a Yes or No reply: I shall speak to him if he comes.

179 Using any for two, instead of either.

Don’t say: Any of these two books is good.

Say: Either of these two books is good.

Either means one or the other of two, any means one of three or more. Any of these books will do.

180 Using likes me instead of I like.

Don’t say: The cinema likes me very much.

Say: I like the cinema very much.

Note: The cinema appeals to me is correct, and means I like the cinema very much.

   Don’t say: Sara speaks neither English or French.

   Don’t say: I don’t like red and orange. I want the blue one.
   ✓ Say: I don’t like red or orange. I want the blue one.

   The meaning of the first sentence is that you don’t like the two colours together. The intended meaning is that you don’t like either of them, even separately.

   Note: If we join clauses with different subjects we use and even after a negative. He didn’t write to me and I was worried.

185. Using till instead of before or when.
   Don’t say: I’d reached the school till the rain started.
   ✓ Say: I’d reached the school before the rain started.
   Or: I’d reached the school when the rain started.

   Before or when introduces a clause of time, if the verb of the main clause denotes an action completed before that of the time clause.

   Example: He gave me good advice (not: a good advice).

2. After the phrase kind of or sort of: What kind of pen do you want?

a, an or one

Many languages use the numeral one instead of the indefinite article a or an. This is not so in English. One man went into one shop ought to be A man went into a shop. One is used only when the number is emphatic: One swallow does not make a summer.

271 Omission of the direct object when there are two objects.

Don’t say: I asked him for some ink, and he gave me.

✔ Say: I asked him for some ink, and he gave me some.

Some transitive verbs, like give, bring, send, tell, buy, show, must have two expressed objects, direct and indirect: here, some is the direct object of gave.

272 The object of the verb enjoy omitted.

Don’t say: I enjoyed during the holidays.

✔ Say: I enjoyed myself during the holidays.

Or: I enjoyed my holidays.

Don’t follow the verb enjoy by a preposition. It must always have an object, which may either be a reflexive pronoun or a noun.

Note: We say I had a good time, as this is an idiomatic expression, but we can’t say I enjoyed my time. We must specify: I enjoyed my time in Greece.

273 Omission of the noun after an adjective.

Don’t say: The unfortunate was shot dead.

✔ Say: The unfortunate man was shot dead.

The noun that comes after an adjective can’t be understood; it must be expressed.

Note: Omit the noun after an adjective only when the adjective is used as a noun in the plural: The poor envy the rich.

274 Omission of the word and between numbers.

Don’t say: Eight thousand thirty-seven.

✔ Say: Eight thousand and thirty-seven.

Use the conjunction and to connect hundred, thousand, million to a number of tens or units.

275 Omission of the word or between numbers.

Don’t say: I’ve only two, three friends.

✔ Say: I’ve only two or three friends.

We must always insert the conjunction or between numbers like this: two or three men, five or six pages, eight or ten days.

I don't think means I don’t use my brains, while I don't think so means I am not of that opinion.
Part 2

282 Before yesterday, etc., used instead of the day before yesterday, etc.

Definite article

As a rule, nouns in English take no article when used in a general sense, but if they’re used in a particular sense the article is needed. Note the difference in the use or omission of the article:

1 With plural nouns:
Horses are strong animals.
The horses in the field belong to the farmer.

2 With abstract nouns:
Wisdom is a great virtue.
The wisdom of Solomon was famous.

3 With material nouns:
Water is necessary to life.
The water in the kitchen is hot.

4 With days, months, and seasons:
Summer is a hot season
The summer of ’99 was very hot.

5 With names of languages:

The English she speaks is not correct.

6 With names of meals:
Breakfast is at eight o’clock.
The breakfast I had this morning was delicious.

7 With names of colours:
Blue is my favourite colour.
The blue in that picture has faded.
Use of the infinitive

Mistakes are frequently made by using the infinitive without to after the following verbs, which do not require it.

321 Can + infinitive without to.

Don’t say: My mother can to swim very well.
✓ Say: My mother can swim very well.

Note: Always write the negative form cannot as one word. Alternatively, the short form can’t can be used informally.

322 Could + infinitive without to.

Don’t say: I could not to see you yesterday.
✓ Say: I could not/couldn’t see you yesterday.

323 May + infinitive without to.

Don’t say: May I to visit you next weekend?
✓ Say: May I visit you next weekend?

331 Feel + infinitive without to.

✓ Say: I could feel her heart beat.
Or: I could feel her heart beating.

Note: If the verbs make, see, watch, hear, feel, are used in the passive, to must be used: He was seen to leave the house; He was heard to speak in English.

(See Exercise 65 on page 165.)

Miscellaneous examples

332 Wrong repetition of subject.
Don’t say: My little brother he is at school.
✓ Say: My little brother is at school.

Never repeat the subject by using a pronoun after the noun My little brother, and he denote the same person. Therefore, use one or the other as subject, but not both.
Unnecessary words

333 Wrong repetition of subject in a compound sentence.
Don't say: I went to the market and I bought fruit.
✓ Say: I went to the market and bought fruit.

In a compound sentence, express the same subject once only and don't repeat it before each verb, unless the sentence is long and complicated.

334 Wrong repetition of subject after an adjectival clause.
Don't say: David, who is a careless pupil, he lost his book.
✓ Say: David, who is a careless pupil, lost his book.

335 Wrong repetition of subject after a non-finite verb phrase.
Don't say: Karen and Tom, having signed the register, they left the church.
✓ Say: Karen and Tom, having signed the register, left the church.

336 Wrong use of personal pronoun in a relative clause.
Don't say: The book which I lost it was new.
✓ Say: The book which I lost was new.

Don't use a personal pronoun as well as a relative in the relative clause if they both refer to the same noun. In the first sentence both which and it refer to book.

337 Wrong repetition of object.
Don't say: The doctor I know him very well.
✓ Say: I know the doctor very well.

In the sentence given, the words doctor and him denote one and the same object. Therefore, use either doctor or him, but not both in the same sentence.

In general we don't put the object before the verb so the word order in The doctor I know him very well is also wrong.
338 Wrong repetition of object with infinitive.

Don't say: I bought an English book to read it.

✓ Say: I bought an English book to read.

Don't repeat an object with an infinitive of purpose if the verb takes an object.

(For Sections 332–338 see Exercise 20 on page 146.)

339 Wrong use of that in direct speech.

Don't say: She said that, 'I'm sure to pass.'

✓ Say: She said, 'I'm sure to pass.'

We can't use that in direct speech, i.e. when we repeat the words that some other person has spoken without any change.

Note, in indirect speech we say: He said that he was sure to pass.

340 Using a double comparative.

Don't say: He's more stronger than John.

✓ Say: He's stronger than John.

Double comparatives are incorrect. More stronger ought to be only stronger. However, we can say much stronger.

341 Misuse of adjectives that can't be compared.

Don't say: My work is more perfect than his.

✓ Say: My work is superior to his.

Or: My work is better than his.

Certain adjectives can't be compared: perfect, unique, preferable, supreme, right, correct, etc.

342 Return back used instead of return.

Don't say: She has returned back to school.

✓ Say: She has returned to school.

Don't use the word back with return, because return means to come back.
343 Begin from used instead of begin.
   Don’t say: Exams begin from Thursday.
✓ Say: Exams begin on Thursday.

A thing can begin only at a point of time. The word can’t be used to apply to the whole time during which a thing is being done.

344 Consider as used instead of consider.
   Don’t say: Robert considers me as his best friend.
✓ Say: Robert considers me his best friend.

Don’t use as after the word consider. We say He regards me as his best friend or Robert considers me to be his best friend.

345 For to used instead of to.
   Don’t say: I came here for to learn English.
✓ Say: I came here to learn English.

346 From where used instead of where.
   Don’t say: From where can I buy a good watch?
✓ Say: Where can I buy a good watch?

Where means at what place, while from where denotes the point of origin. From where do tourists come?

347 And etc. used instead of etc.
   Don’t say: I, you, we, and etc. are pronouns.
✓ Say: I, you, we, etc., are pronouns.

Etc. is the short form of et cetera, a Latin phrase meaning and other things. The combination and etc. is wrong because it would mean and and other things.

Note: However, students are advised to avoid using etc. in an essay and to use phrases such as and other things, and so on instead.

348 So ... so that instead of so ... that.
   Don’t say: I’m so tired so that I can’t go.
Say: I’m so tired that I can’t go.

When so or such is completed by a clause of result, introduce the clause by that and not by so that.

From now and on used instead of from now on.
Don’t say: From now and on I’ll study hard.
 ✓ Say: From now on I’ll study hard.

The phrase from now and on is incorrect. Say, from now on.

Although/Though ... yet used instead of although/though.
Don’t say: Although it’s raining, yet he’ll go.
 ✓ Say: Although it’s raining, he’ll go.

Although (though) is the conjunction introducing the subordinate clause, and a second one (yet or still) isn’t required.

Go to home used instead of go home.
Don’t say: When school is over I go to home.
 ✓ Say: When school is over I go home.

The expression I go to home is wrong. Say, I go home.

Using far with a phrase of definite distance.
Don’t say: Mary lives two miles far from here.
 ✓ Say: Mary lives two miles from here.

When we use a phrase of definite distance (like two miles) in a sentence, don’t use the word far. We can say, Mary lives two miles away.
Misplaced words

Wrong position of adverbs

353 The adverb of definite time misplaced.

Don’t say: I last night went to the cinema.
✓ Say: I went to the cinema last night.

Adverbs or adverbial phrases of definite time, like yesterday, today, tomorrow, last week, two months ago, are usually placed at the end of the sentence. If we want to emphasise the time, we put the adverb at the beginning: Yesterday I was very busy.

Note: If there is more than one adverb of definite time in a sentence, put the more exact expression before the more general: He was born at two o’clock in the morning on April 12th 1942.

354 The adverb of indefinite time misplaced.

Don’t say: They come always to school by bus.
✓ Say: They always come to school by bus.

Place adverbs of indefinite time, like ever, never, always, often, seldom, soon, sometimes and the adverbs almost, scarcely, hardly, nearly, even, before the principal verb.

Note: With the verb to be place the adverb of indefinite time after the verb: They are always beautifully dressed.

355 The adverb of time placed before the adverb of place.

Don’t say: The builders will be tomorrow here.
✓ Say: The builders will be here tomorrow.

When using an adverb of time and an adverb of place together in a sentence, the adverb of place must come first.
356 The adverb misplaced with a transitive verb.

Don't say: Janet wrote carefully her essay.

✔ Say: Janet wrote her essay carefully.

With a transitive verb, the adverb generally comes after the object.

Note: If, however, the object is long, the adverb may come after the transitive verb: *She wrote carefully all the essays she had to do.*

357 The adverb enough misplaced.

Don't say: Is the room enough large for you?

✔ Say: Is the room large enough for you?

Place the adverb enough after the word it qualifies and not before.

Note: When enough is an adjective it comes before the noun: *We have enough food* for six people.

358 Not misplaced with a compound verb.

Don't say: I should have not gone ...

✔ Say: I should not have gone ...

Position not in a compound verb after the first auxiliary.

Note: With the present or perfect participle, place not at the beginning: Not having set the alarm, he was late for work. Not being rich, he couldn't afford it.

359 Not misplaced with the negative infinitive.

Don't say: I told Liz to not come on Monday.

✔ Say: I told Liz not to come on Monday.

Position not in the negative infinitive immediately before the word to, and not after it.

(See Exercises 66 and 67 on pages 165–166.)
Misplaced words

Miscellaneous examples

360 The subject of the sentence misplaced

Don't say: Last week visited our school a man.
✔ Say: A man visited our school last week.

In most English sentences place the subject first, the verb next, then the object with the rest following.

361 The subject misplaced in questions.

Don't say: You were at the cinema yesterday?
They'll come with us tomorrow?

✔ Say: Were you at the cinema yesterday?
Will they come with us tomorrow?

In interrogative sentences place the subject after the verb. If the tense is compound, the subject comes after the auxiliary, and the rest follows.

Note: Exception to this rule is occasionally made in spoken English, but students are advised to follow the rule.

362 The subject misplaced in questions beginning with an interrogative word.

Don't say: Why you were absent last Friday?

✔ Say: Why were you absent last Friday?

In questions beginning with an interrogative word, like what, when, where, how, place the verb before the subject as in all questions.

(For Sections 361–362 see Exercise 35 on page 153.)

363 The subject misplaced after never, etc.

Don't say: Never I have heard of such a thing.

✔ Say: Never have I heard of such a thing.

When never, seldom, rarely, neither, nor, not only, no sooner, are placed at the beginning of a complete clause, the verb must come before the subject as in a question.
364 All ... not used instead of Not all.

Don’t say: All people are not hard-working.

✓ Say: Not all people are hard-working.

The first sentence is wrong because it makes all people lazy.

Note: Similarly, Everybody doesn’t like dancing should be Not everybody likes dancing.

365 The subject misplaced in indirect questions.

Don’t say: The teacher asked me what games did I play?

✓ Say: The teacher asked me what games I played.

In indirect questions follow the usual order of words: subject first and then verb.

(See Exercise 37 on page 154.)

366 The direct object misplaced.

Don’t say: He touched with his hand the ball.

✓ Say: He touched the ball with his hand.

The object of a transitive verb generally comes directly after the verb.

367 The indirect object misplaced.

Don’t say: I showed to her some of my stamps.

✓ Say: I showed some of my stamps to her.

If the indirect object is preceded by a preposition, place it after the direct object.

Note: The indirect object usually comes first without a preposition. I showed her some of my stamps.

368 The qualifying adjective misplaced.

Don’t say: My uncle has a garden very large.

✓ Say: My uncle has a very large garden.

Put the adjective immediately before the noun it qualifies.

Questions

Questions can be formed in three ways:

1. By putting the verb before the subject. Only use this method with the following twenty-one verbs:
am, is, are, was, were; have, has, had; shall, should; will, would; can, could; may, might; must; need; dare; ought; used.
Examples: Are you ready? Can you write well? Will he come tomorrow? May I go now?

2. By using do, does, did, followed by the subject and then the infinitive (without to). Use this form with all verbs except the twenty-one given above. The word order is:
Do (does, did) + SUBJECT + INFINITIVE
Examples: Do you come here every day? Does the child learn English? Did they go to the theatre?

3. By using question words. The question word always begins the question, but the verb must be put before the subject as in questions of types 1 and 2.
Examples: Why are you late? When did you come? Where is it? Whom did you see? Which book do you want?
If the question word is the subject of the sentence, put the verb after the subject:
Who wrote the letter? Whose dog bit the man?
369 The past participle misplaced.

Don't say: The ordered goods haven’t arrived.

✓ Say: The goods ordered haven’t arrived.

The goods ordered is a shortened form of The goods which have been ordered.

370 The relative clause misplaced.

Don't say: A girl has a pony who is in our class.

✓ Say: A girl who is in our class has a pony.

Put the relative clause immediately after the noun to which it refers.

Note: Enclose a relative clause that may be omitted between commas. My brother George, who is in another class, has a new bicycle. A relative clause that can't be omitted is not enclosed within commas: The boy who spoke to me is my brother.

371 The conjunction misplaced in a time clause.

Don't say: Emma when she arrived the boat had already gone.

✓ Say: When Emma arrived the boat had already gone.

Place the conjunction introducing an adverbial clause of time at the beginning of a clause.

372 Correlative conjunctions misplaced.

Don't say: Paul neither speaks English nor French.

✓ Say: Paul speaks neither English nor French.

Place correlative conjunctions (that is, conjunctions used in pairs, like neither ... nor, not only ... but also) before words of the same part of speech.

Use of will and shall

I'll/will/shall     You'll/will      He/she/it'll/will We'll/will/shall   You'll/will      They'll/will

The short form 'll can be used for both will and shall.
We usually use the long form in writing and the short in speech, but when we are writing informally we also use the short form.

The future auxiliary will has several different meanings:
1. It can be used for things which we expect to happen:
   He('ll) will speak to you about it tomorrow.
2. It can be used as a conditional with an if or whether clause:
   Jane will give you a lift if you need one.
3. We use will or shall for requests and offers:
   Will you help me sort out these books?
4. When will is stressed it often means that someone insists on or persists in doing something:
   Barry will keep handing in his homework late.
5. Shall is always used in the first person in the question form:
   Shall I leave the door open? Shall we have lunch now?
6. Shall is sometimes used in modern English with the first person (I or we) when we are speaking or writing formally:
   We shall never forget your kindness.

Shall isn’t generally used in other contexts nowadays, though it used to be quite common.
